Transits for Astro-Trading is a useful piece of software that offers you a straightforward way to accurately calculate the mundane planetary transits, as they're also called, between two moving planets with an angular relationship. Helps you determine the dates of both geocentric and heliocentric planetary transits Right off the bat, you should know that the app also allows you to calculate the conjunction, opposition, trine, square, sextile, semisextile and quincunx values of various planets by a central point. This is the perfect time to point out that this central point can vary, depending on which type astrology system you want to use. For example, the Earth is the central point in geocentric astrology while the Sun takes its place in heliocentric astrology. Straightforward workflow To start taking advantage of everything this utility has to offer, simply add the start and end dates, choose the centricity and aspect types from their dedicated fields, click the "Simulate investment" button, and the transit details should be displayed in the lower section within just a couple of seconds. In addition, the application allows you to choose the first and second planet, as well as their outer, middle and inner orb values. Last but not least, you can save the app's current state and even export the results to a plain text file. Efficient and useful, little app for calculating the dates of planetary transits All in all, Transits for Astro-Trading is a practical application for calculating the mundane transits between two planets with an angular connection. The application undergoes a simple installation process, it's extremely light on system resources and, thanks to its WYSIWYG interface with all features right on display, it can be used by novice users with no problems.
